Women Will Decide

Madeleine Love, Victorian Senate Candidate for What Women Want (Australia) is delighted to announce that she has what it takes to enter politics.

Launch Details: Friday 19th October, in the Domain, at the corner of Birdwood Avenue and Dallas Brooks Drive at 12.15 pm.

John Winston Howard hasn't been listening...

Australians today aren't directly responsible for what happened to the Indigenous populations 200 years ago,
But we will decide if we want to say 'sorry' and make amends, or not.

Climate change issues may not yet be completely agreed on,
But we will decide if we want to sign the Kyoto agreement or not.

Australians have a long history of acting in unison in war with the USA and the UK,
But we will decide whether our defence forces go to war, or not.

Australia has donated the land of its interior to the use of foreign lands for some time,
But we will decide whether they can use it to bury their nuclear waste, or not.

The Government has said that the Sudanese have difficulty integrating into our population,
But we will decide who comes into this country.

John Howard has been regarded as a master politician with a stroke of genius,
But on November 24, Australians will decide who will govern this country.
